Doing What She Loves

Elizabeth's career passion is helping students discover their unique talents and interests so they can apply them to a college major and career they will love. Elizabeth is certified to administer the Strong Interest Inventory® assessment and is currently a candidate for administering the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator® assessment two of the most respected career tools available today. She has also completed her training as a Global Career Development Facilitator from the National Career Development Association. With a focus on career development, Elizabeth is in a higher echelon than most private college admissions counselors.
